Papers Go Offset

Congratulations to C. O. Wahlquist and Larry Wahlquist, the father-and-son team who publish the Nevada County Picayune at Prescott and the Pike County Courier at Murfreesboro—for with their editions dated today both weekly newspapers converted to the offset system of printing.

The initial offset edition at Prescott had 14 pages, and the Murfreesboro paper eight pages.

It seems like only yesterday that Hope Star went through the nerve-fracturing turmoil of changing from letterpress to offset, meaning that you had to get out a newspaper on schedule despite the operating handicap of a building jammed with two printing plants—you couldn't sell off the old plant until you had the new one completely installed and working.

If Nevada countians thought some of Larry Wahlquist's pictures were on the dark side in this first offset run of the Picayune, they have short memories. Otherwise they would have recalled that when the first offset edition came out of Hope Star's plant Dec. 22, 1965, all of our pictures were dark—and it took us a month to whip the in-shop photographic problem. I should explain that in the offset system all pictures taken in the field are rephotographed in the shop. You might have the finest original picture in the world and yet it turned out to be a "dog" in the newspaper because of the failure of the critical in-plant operation—photocopying the original through a screen to create the dot pattern which makes picture publication possible. This procedure is universal with newspapers and magazines. A similar system is used in television, but instead of dots TV uses lines, 200 lines to the inch. Peer at your TV screen close up and the lines stand out boldly.

But the problem of dark pictures will be whipped quickly by the Picayune. It took Hope Star a month to solve the riddle, because we had no neighbor offset publication to consult with. I carried a line-glass magnifier for a month while checking distant offset newspapers' pictures. Examining the Benton Courier, then a weekly and now a daily, I discovered the answer one night. Our pictures were dark because the dots in the faces of people were too big. Next morning I increased the exposure on the big plant camera, almost extinguishing the dot pattern in faces—and that was the end of our troubles.

According to an Arkansas Press Association bulletin of July 13, 74 per cent of all dailies and weeklies belonging to APA are printed by offset. The conversion of the Prescott and Murfreesboro papers now puts the figure close to 80 per cent—truly a mechanical revolution in Arkansas' hometown press.

Someone sent us a tear-sheet from the Baytown (Texas) Sun of Aug. 26 which carried a photograph showing Roy Bruce of Cloverleaf, Texas, presenting an 83-pound Hope watermelon to Justice of the Peace N. O. Morrison. "The giant melon went to Our House, Magma, Inc., for the people there who are working with the rehabilitation of young drug addicts," the caption under the picture reports. The caption adds: "The giant melon is a Cobb Gem, not the largest of the season. Some are still growing, Bruce said."

To the person who sent us the tear-sheet, Thanks.

Bombing investigation expanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the unauthorized Air Force bombing of North Vietnam hear from two Navy fliers today amid allegations that the Navy also may have violated rules of engagement in bomb sorties from Tonkin Gulf carriers.

Scheduled to testify before the Senate Armed Services Committee were William Gropper, a former Navy lieutenant and pilot, and Navy Lt. William Moore Jr., a pilot.

Committee Chairman Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., declined to elaborate Wednesday on what path the questioning of the pair would follow.

But he told newsmen: "Two days ago, I thought I wouldn't be here talking about going off on another line ... I have received direct allegations that there have been some violations of the rules of engagement by the Navy."

The committee probe was spurred by the disclosure that Air Force personnel falsified bombing reports last winter and spring to show U.S. planes had been fired on when they had not been. Gen. John Lavelle, commander of Air Force personnel in Southeast Asia, was relieved of command as a result. U.S. policy at the time forbade bombings above the demilitarized zone unless U.S. planes were fired on or tracked by missile-control radar.

Meanwhile, Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., who is not a member of the committee, released a letter on the allegations against the Navy.

Case said the letter, received last March, was written by a Navy lieutenant junior grade aboard the Hancock, an attack carrier. Case would not disclose the officer's name.

The officer said that at the time of Lavelle's raids, the Navy was using reconnaissance aircraft as bait, an excuse for bombing.

At first, Case said the lieutenant wrote, Navy reconnaissance F8 Crusader jets were accompanied by A4 Skyhawk bombers which would attack only if there was ground fire. The emphasis was on photos, he said.

China, Japan establish diplomatic relations, terminate state of war

PEKING (AP) — Prime Minister Chou En-lai announced tonight that China and Japan have decided to establish diplomatic relations and terminate the state of war between the two countries.

The 74-year-old premier said in a farewell toast at a glittering banquet in the Hall of the People given by Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka of Japan that this historic step will make a "positive contribution" to the relaxation of tension in Asia and to world peace.

Tanaka, 54, who arrived here Sunday on a state visit, said normalization of relations is only the first step and that he will try his best to continue the trend of rapprochement.

Japan's 23-year-old state of diplomatic relations with Taiwan is expected to be broken by Friday morning, when Chou and Tanaka sign a joint communique outlining the steps they have taken.

"We are going to end the abnormal state of affairs which has existed between the two countries up to now," Chou said. "The termination of the state of war and the normalization of relations between China and Japan — the realization of this long-cherished wishes of the Chinese and Japanese peoples will open a new chapter in the relations between the two countries and make a positive contribution to the relaxation of tension in Asia and safeguarding the world peace."

Radiothon to aid
family is Saturday

The Hope Lions Club will sponsor a benefit radiothon on Radio Station KXAR Saturday to aid the James Betts family of Hope.

A native of Spring Hill, Betts, 37, has been disabled for three years. He recently underwent a lung operation in New Orleans, and unpaid medical expenses total more than $5,600.

A former employee at both Dean's Truck Stop and Perry's Truck Stop near Hope, Betts is married to the former Clara Dougan of Emmet. The couple has two children, Elaine, 14, and Wesley, 12.

The radiothon will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

Paris meeting.
Did it produce end to VN war?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger is back in the United States after a unique two-day meeting with top North Vietnamese negotiators, a meeting the White House denies produced a settlement of the war.

What, if anything, came from the Paris sessions remains a secret held by a handful of administration officials.

Kissinger talked to President Nixon by telephone Wednesday night after his return to Washington and will provide a complete report at the White House tonight after the chief executive returns from a campaign trip to California.

The President's chief foreign-policy adviser emerged from his Air Force plane smiling and looking relaxed, but he refused to meet with waiting reporters about his talks with Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy.

"I can't say anything," Kissinger shouted to newsmen who implored him to stay a while after his jet touched down on a rain-slicked runway at Andrews Air Force Base.

What the reporters wanted to ask about specifically was a report that an agreement had been reached to create a three-segment neutral regime in Saigon with a cease-fire going into effect in October.

In Paris, meanwhile, Thuy said rumors of an imminent agreement on a war settlement are "without foundation and contrary to the truth."

Thuy, who is North Vietnam's chief peace negotiator, said his delegation has been besieged with calls asking about rumors of an agreement.

"I want to make it clear that such speculation is without foundation and contrary to the truth." He said the positions of the two sides "are still far apart and contradictory."

Although Kissinger wouldn't discuss the meeting—his 18th secret session and the only one to last more than a day—White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said in California the report of an accord had "no substance."

Substantive or not, the story originated by RKO broadcast White House correspondent Clifford Evans had a major effect on the New York stock market in late trading Wednesday.

When asked about the Evans story, Ziegler originally said only that "I cannot comment at all on the substance of the discussions" Kissinger had with the North Vietnamese.

American Party is off ballot

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A lower court ruling that would keep the American party in Arkansas off the November general election ballot was upheld Wednesday by the state Supreme Court.

The 6-1 decision, with Justice Conley Byrd dissenting, was expected to be appealed to federal court.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Kelly Bryant prepared to mail the official ballot — minus the American party presidential and vice presidential candidates — to the 75 county election commissions. The deadline for Bryant's certification of the ballot to the election commissions is today.

The high court's decision affirmed a ruling by Circuit Court Judge Warren E. Wood of Pulaski County, who held against the party's effort to qualify for a ballot spot by petitions.

Wood had ruled that Bryant was without authority when he granted the party an extra 30 days in which to submit petitions.

1 American
dies in VN

SAIGON (AP) — Only one American was reported killed in action in Indochina last week, but two died of non-hostile causes, the U.S. Command announced today.

In addition, the Command said six more men were listed as missing and 13 were reported wounded.

Nixon: 'Four more years'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon, expanding on his 1972 campaign slogan of "Four More Years," says his re-election would mean "four of the best years in the whole history of the United States."

Addressing a $1,000-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner here Wednesday night, Nixon spoke of his initiatives toward Moscow and Peking, but declared:

"We need four more years to build on this beginning."

Then, talking about law and order and his effort to end what he terms permissiveness by the courts, he said:

"Four years isn't enough. We need more."

Summing up his pitch for what he has described as "a clear majority," he cited three goals for his hoped-for four more years:

—Peace in the world.

—"Opportunity and jobs for all Americans."

—To instill in all citizens a firm conviction that "this is a great and good, and indeed, a beautiful country."

The President reflected on his Vietnam policy and said "we have not accomplished everything we would have desired as fast as we might ..."

But, he added, "We have prepared the South Vietnamese so that it is now very clear that they will be able soon to undertake their complete defense without our assistance ..."

"We are going to end our involvement," Nixon said. "We will end the war. But we are going to end it without betraying our allies and we are not going to abandon our prisoners of war or play politics with our prisoners of war."

As Nixon spoke, a dwindling but noisy group of demonstrators—the White House described them as the forces of the President's Democratic opponent, George McGovern—demonstrated outside the Century Plaza Hotel.

At one point, police estimated the demonstrators numbered more than 3,000 but their ranks thinned as the evening wore on. Only occasionally did they stray from their role as professional peaceful protesters, once when some tried to storm the lobby.

Los Angeles police in riot gear moved in quickly whenever they got a hint of possible violence but quickly withdrew when nothing serious occurred.

Inside the Century Plaza, busloads of young Republicans had their own party and, at one point, were allowed to leave by the rear of the hotel to gather in the lobby behind ropes and stanchions.

In his Los Angeles speech, Nixon renewed a pledge that he would seek to avoid tax increases in a second term while trying to stamp out inflation.

Looking to the weeks just ahead, and referring presumably to measures that might emerge from the current Democratic-controlled Congress, the President said:

"I intend ... to approve no bills that would lead to a tax increase for the American people."

He promised he would "find it necessary to veto some huge spending bills."

McGovern has been trying to goad Nixon into more frequent public appearances, arguing that major campaign issues are not being clearly defined by the opposing major candidates.

Arriving in California in search of its 48 electoral votes, Nixon said Wednesday he must be in Washington much of the time so he can ward off potential tax-boosting programs of the Congress.

"I would welcome the opportunity to take the case for this administration directly to the American people," said Nixon. "But my first responsibility is to do my job as president of the United States ..."

In one of two statements issued in his home state, Nixon said:

"I shall make no promises in this campaign for any new spending program—no matter how popular—if such programs would lead to a tax increase."

Just before his scheduled return to Washington, Nixon went to a hotel in downtown Los Angeles to receive an award—a National Cancer Conference.

In remarks prepared for the occasion, he recalled the medical-research-cooperation agreement signed during his trip to Moscow in May.

"Perhaps," he said, "the fight against cancer can help teach the world that despite immense differences between cultures and values and political systems, nations must work together to meet their common needs."

PANCAKE SUPPER

Editor The Star: This is a letter that should have been written much sooner, but I had waited purposely until a report could be given on the recently held Pancake Supper sponsored by the Hope Kiwanis Club.

The project could not have been the success that it was had it not been for the generous publicity given to it through the columns of the Hope Star.

I am happy to report that there was a net profit of $64.00 all of which will be used in Kiwanis Youth Activities and the Golden Age Club.

I know that a simple "thank you" is not enough, but I want you and your staff to know that every member of Hope Kiwanis Club is deeply grateful for your cooperation in this and in our other Kiwanis Projects. Most sincerely,

M-Missing, T-Trace

Freed U.S. pilots are in Copenhagen

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The three American pilots flew home today, happy to be within hours of the land they left to fight a distant war, concerned about the hundreds of prisoners of war they left behind.

Lt. Norris Charles put it succinctly shortly before he and two colleagues released by Hanoi took off for New York.

At a Copenhagen news conference he said the American people were in fact bringing the trio home. Then, concerning the remaining prisoners, Charles told Americans:

"If you really want to bring these men home you can do it. If you really want to end the war you can do it. I call on you to help me bring the men home ... I can't feel too free when I consider the men who are left behind in North Vietnam."

Charles, his fellow Navy Lt. (j.g.) Mark Gartley and Maj. Edward Elias of the Air Force appeared to be in fine shape as they arrived in Denmark after an overnight stay in Moscow. They had flown from Hanoi via Peking and Moscow, traveling on commercial planes in the company of a group of American antiwar activists. That was an effort to avoid any attempt by U.S. authorities to take the pilots into custody while en route.

Charles had been a prisoner of war almost a year, Gartley four years and Elias four months.

They shunned political statements today.

Gartley observed: "I've been away from the States for a very long time and not all the issues are clear to me. But whichever policy will bring the men home the fastest is the one I support the most."

Asked if Jane Fonda as a visitor to Hanoi had reported accurately that American prisoners of war favored the election of Sen. George McGovern, Gartley said the actress was "not qualified to speak for the opinions of the prisoners of war."

When the fliers reached Moscow there was a name-calling struggle between the activist group and a U.S. diplomat, centering on who would be in charge of the men's return home. There was nothing like that in Copenhagen — the official contact was brief and polite.

Charles told a newsmen that he did not expect to be going back on combat duty and the other two pilots nodded their heads in agreement.

Asked if he thought he would be in trouble with the U.S. military for his statements, Charles replied: "The military does not hold the truth against anybody."

Gartley, speaking of his long captivity, said "psychologically speaking you become adapted. The first six months are hard."

Then he said, a life goes on to a month-by-month or season-by-season scale instead of one from hour to hour or minute to minute.

Charles, describing his North Vietnamese captors, said he was "treated with a lot of kindness and a lot of generosity."

The men wore Eastern European-style suits that fit them only approximately and fashionless, narrow ties, Gartley, a light haired, tall man, looked pale in the television lights, while Elias' complexion appeared ruddier.

All said they were in good physical condition.

"As fellow human beings we share the joy of these three men who after captivity again are free and with their families," Krag said.

The prime minister said he was confident the whole Danish nation shared his sincere hope

Mao attends meeting in Japan-China summit series

PEKING (AP) — Mao Tse-tung has given the Chinese-Japanese summit his official public blessing by meeting with Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka.

The Chinese Communist party leader received Tanaka Wednesday night in the private residence where he met President Nixon in February. They talked for an hour and the session was described as "very friendly" and cordial.

It was Mao's first encounter with a Japanese prime minister in more than half a century as a revolutionary leader.

The gesture, coming midway in Tanaka's meetings with Premier Chou En-lai, was a tipoff that the two men are moving toward agreement on establishing diplomatic relations and working out a series of pacts which will formalize their new ties.

A fourth summit was to be held today, presumably to smooth over the rough spots in the communiqué their two foreign ministers and aides are putting together.

As party chief, Mao is the most powerful man in China. Chou is his second in command.

Official color photographs showed Mao ruddy-faced and in apparent robust health as he shook hands with Tanaka.

Dressed in a gray civilian tunic, Mao remarked humorously that he hoped the "fighting" with Chou was over. And he observed that once people have fought they become more friendly.

Hogs busy ironing out mistakes
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said the Razorbacks made a lot of mistakes in their 1½-hour workout Wednesday. Broyles said a lot of plays had to be repeated and this wasted a lot of time. Arkansas plays Tulsa Saturday afternoon in Fayetteville. Broyles said Scott Bull, who started his first game last week against Oklahoma State, will again be the starting fullback Saturday. Broyles said Drew Toole would handle the punting. Center Stuart Freeland missed practice Wednesday because of a bruised knee, but Broyles said he should be back Thursday.

Johnny Bench:

I'd like to hit a few more

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Aaron just goes on and on while Johnny Bench goes in streaks. But no matter which way they go, they're both quite satisfied with this season, thank you.

"I'd like to hit a few more home runs this year," Aaron said Wednesday night after slugging his 33rd of the season and 672nd of his career in Atlanta's 8-5 victory over Cincinnati.

"But I'll be satisfied if I get 35 this year," Bad Henry added. "It'll leave me 40 to tie." And his manager, Eddie Mathews, has no doubt Aaron will surpass Babe Ruth's all-time homer record of 714.

"Hank just goes on and on," the Braves' field general said. "It's just a matter of time with him. He'll do it. He's really something else, isn't he?" Bench has been something else this season. For one thing, he's bunched his homers in spurts. "I'm a streak hitter," he said. "I have seven homers in the last seven games I've played and I hit seven in five games earlier this year."

"This season, in some ways, has been more satisfying than 1970," he added. Two years ago he won Most Valuable Player honors with his 45 homers and 148 runs batted in, both tops in the National League. In 1971 he sagged to just 27 homers and 61 RBI.

"A lot of people were saying after my bad year last year that 1970 was a fluke for me," Bench has very convincingly disproved that notion. He hit his 40th homer to drive in his 122nd run—both tops in the majors—in the Reds' losing cause

Oriole pennant hopes dwindle

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Are the Orioles an extinct bird? Could be—in the American League East pennant race. After a critical 3-0 loss to the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night, the defending American League champion Baltimore Orioles might be a dying breed in 1972.

"That doesn't eliminate us mathematically," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver, "but ..."

Weaver left the sentence hanging, which is just about where the Orioles are right now. Baltimore has fallen 3½ games in back of the front-running Boston Red Sox and it appears that only a miracle finish could give them a fourth straight Eastern Division pennant.

"I can't figure out all the combinations it would take for us to win, but I imagine there are some," added Weaver.

This is the pitch, Earl: Any combination of three victories by Boston or losses by Baltimore will eliminate the Orioles from contention. The same goes for the New York Yankees, who also fell 3½ behind by losing to the second-place Detroit Tigers 6-5 Wednesday night.

The Red Sox continued to rule the East by a half-game after defeating the Milwaukee Brewers 7-5.

In the West, the Oakland A's moved closer to the title by winning a doubleheader from the Minnesota Twins, 1-0 in 11 innings and 2-1 in 10. The Chicago White Sox dropped to the brink of elimination by losing a 4-2 decision to the Kansas City Royals. Elsewhere, the California Angels beat the Texas Rangers 3-1.

Gaylord Perry, who's been accused on occasion of throwing a wet ball, didn't let a 90-minute rain delay bother him as he pitched a seven-hitter over the Orioles.

"There's no doubt that Perry throws a strange pitch," said Weaver of Perry's alleged spitter.

Perry, who won his 23rd game, allowed three of Baltimore's hits in the opening inning but pitched out of trouble with the help of a double play. The veteran righthander was equally effective after that rain delay in the sixth inning.

The Indians scored all their runs off Oriole southpaw Dave McNally in the first inning.

Chris Chambliss hit a two-run triple and then scored on a single by Ray Fosse. McNally then departed the scene without retiring a batter.

Sal Bando delivered both game-winning hits to pace Oakland over Minnesota. In the first game, he singled to drive in the winning run in the 11th inning and in the second game, his run-scoring hit produced the game-winner in the 10th.

John Mayberry slammed a two-run homer in the first and scored after his third-inning triple to power Kansas City past Chicago. White Sox Manager Chuck Tanner was obviously distraught.

Tulsa finds solution to punting problems

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The University of Tulsa has been having so many problems with its punting game that Coach Claude Gibson has been pondering some unorthodox solutions.

In the season opener, one snap went over the punter's head. Kansas State picked up the ball and ran it into the end zone.

Against Wichita State, a slow snap resulted in a partially blocked punt that wound up two yards beyond the line of scrimmage and gave the Wheatshockers a chance to kick what would have been a game-winning field goal.

Two bad snaps against the University of Houston resulted in two blocked punts and contributed a great deal to Tulsa's 21-0 loss to the Cougars.

"Most teams use two men deep on punts returns," Gibson said in an interview. "We may have to use two deep when we're punting. We could put the fullback back there as a center-fielder."

"We thought about letting the quarterback take the ball and pitch to the fullback and let him kick," he said. "We've been considering the shotgun or maybe using a quick kick, so we could get two chances. Or, we might just run on fourth down."

Gibson went as far as to name freshman quarterback Wayne Mann as his No. 2 punter.

"Why me," asked Mann. "Because you're 6-foot-4 and can jump," Gibson replied.

Seriously, Gibson says the problem has been solved.

Linebacker Allan Jones, who did the deep snapping last year, will handle the job against Arkansas Saturday at Fayetteville. Jones suffered a shoulder injury 10 days before the Kansas State game and did

Cats clash with Malvern

By ALAN FOSTER
Star Sports Writer

Malvern . . . Hope will face none tougher. They are ranked twelfth in the state, and undefeated in conference play, and they are a machine which has humiliated such teams as Little Rock Northeast.

Their offense is explosive and consistent. Their defense is tough and usually gives the offense good field position and come to Hope, Number One. But there is another team sharing that top spot: The Hope Bobcats. Hope was not even given an outside chance to Top Magnolia and Malvern. All eyes in 7AA will be on Hope to see if they can come up the victor this week.

This will probably be "the game", so get ready football fans, there's about to be a battle in Hammons Stadium.

Young talent is key to SWC team success

DALLAS (AP) — Young talent is one reason the Southwest Conference teams have compiled an 11-4 interconference football record.

George Smith, a fleet transfer from Los Angeles, has helped transfer Texas Tech into the No. 2 offensive team in the country. Smith is leading the SWC in rushing. Another Red Raider newcomer, sophomore Cliff Hoskins, ran 79 yards for a touchdown the first time he carried the ball in varsity play.

Texas A&M plans to start three freshmen in its backfield against Army — halfbacks Bubba Bean of Kirbyville, Skip Walker of Del Valle, and fullback Alvin Bowers of Wharton. Aggie wide receiver Carl Coaches has a 97-yard touchdown return against Louisiana State.

Charles Dancer, a 150-pound transfer, caught eight passes from sophomore quarterback Neal Jeffrey in their debut for Baylor.

Coach Hayden Fry of SMU says SWC teams are improved because of "better personnel to move the football. There are more special-ability people in the conference this year. The fact that they're newcomers isn't especially surprising to me — anyone who's new to a team has got to be real gifted to beat out veterans."

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff adds the trend toward youth in the special skills "means there are some good offensive linemen in this conference and they're seasoned players. You're not going to find many

"We saw him knocked cold in scrimmage and he was still holding onto the ball," says Teaff. "We had to pry the ball loose from his fingers."

In the SWC, it's a young man's world.

ASU HAS GOOD PRACTICE

He said even though the Tribe's passing game looked much sharper, more work was needed.

World Hockey Assoc. finally accepted?

NEW YORK (AP) — A summer of frantic checkbook waving is over and the new kid on hockey's big league block apparently has moved in to stay.

The World Hockey Association was greeted with some so-what shrugs when it first announced its formation about one year ago. The standard reaction of the established National Hockey League was to ignore the new league.

When some fringe players announced their intention to switch leagues, the NHL shrugged again. "The decision to pursue players is up to the individual clubs," said Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL. "But I'm not sure that the players they've announced are good enough to pursue."

And Campbell probably was right until June, when the WHA dropped its Bobby Hull bombshell, luring the long-time superstar from Chicago of the NHL to Winnipeg of the WHA with a $2.75 million contract. Hull's signing started the war in earnest.

J. C. Tremblay, Gerry Cheevers, Derek Sanderson and

Johnny McKenzie were other NHL stars who jumped, and so did the NHL—right into court actions.

There currently are 11 suits pending in various courts around the country, some inaugurated by the NHL, others by the WHA.

The key to most of the suits is the controversial reserve clause, a routine part of every NHL contract. The clause, the NHL claims, binds a player to his team for an option year beyond the current term of the contract.

"That clause," argues Dick Wood, president of the WHA's New York franchise, "isn't worth the paper it's written on. I'm confident the courts will rule against it."

Wood and Bill Torrey, general manager of the New York Islanders, an NHL expansion franchise, expect to find out just how valid that clause is in a head-to-head legal confrontation.

Some 60 players who performed in the NHL last year have signed WHA contracts for 1972.

Compromise reform plan to be unveiled

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff unveils his compromise welfare-reform plan today to carry the Senate into the heart of its debate on a giant Social Security-welfare bill.

While the welfare-reform provisions have proven the most hotly disputed aspect of the legislation, it also contains Social Security increases which the Senate raised still further Wednesday.

By a 76-5 vote, the Senate adopted Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's amendment lifting the ceiling on the amount retired persons can earn without losing Social Security benefits.

Mansfield's amendment pegs the ceiling at $3,000 a year, compared with the present limit of $1,600. Some 1.5 million persons could benefit from the $3,000 ceiling during the first year.

Despite some opposition, the Mansfield proposal was debated and passed in short order in contrast to the prolonged argument expected on welfare reform.

Ribicoff offered his compromise in hopes of defeating the rival Workfare approach drafted by the Senate Finance Committee and inserted in the bill.

But there were indications his amendment would not attract sufficient support to be grafted onto the Social Security-welfare bill as a substitute for Workfare.

The Connecticut senator said that in order to win he would have to construct a coalition of liberal Democrats and moderate Republicans. So far President Nixon has refused to endorse such an effort, he noted.

Nixon's own proposal to deal with the problems of welfare families, the family-assistance plan, also is expected to be offered and defeated next week.

It was included in the big bill as it passed the House but rejected by the Senate Finance Committee in favor of Workfare.

If both the Ribicoff amendment and the Nixon plan are rejected, liberals then will strive to eliminate Workfare from the bill. The upshot may be adoption of language which would provide for a pilot project testing the various plans.

The Senate began debate on the $15.1-billion measure Wednesday and its managers quickly opened a defense of the Workfare section.

This plan would require many of the parents in welfare families to take jobs provided by a federal corporation or lose their government relief checks. Finance Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said his committee rejected Nixon's plan in part because members thought it did not have adequate work requirements for able-bodied welfare recipients.

In adopting the Mansfield amendment on Social Security earnings-limits, the Senate went a step beyond the House which followed Nixon's recommendation and put the ceiling at $2,000, or $320 more than presently allowed.

Long and Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, argued against the $3,000 ceiling, saying that it would cost an extra $1.7 billion and generally would benefit retired persons with the highest incomes.

However, if past performance is an indication, House-Senate conferees are likely to opt for the lower House-passed figure.

The Senate defeated another amendment proposed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to do away with the earnings limit altogether.

Frightened girl grabs Nixon's hand

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Amid the crowd of newsmen, Secret Service agents and officials, Jessica Solomon was frightened. So, as she tells it, she reached out and grabbed the hand of President Nixon.

The 8-year-old black girl, who was chased from her home by the rising waters of tropical storm Agnes, says she didn't know who Nixon was but felt a lot better with his hand in hers.

"I said 'Hi.' He asked my name and I told him 'Jess,'" the second-grade student said as she recalled her encounter with the President in late June when he visited a flood shelter here. Nixon took her on his tour, hand in hand.

She remembers Nixon beat as the man with the hand rather than as the President.

Jess lives with her parents, three brothers and three sisters in one of the poorer sections of Harrisburg.

Bumpers urges changes in justice system

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers urged a conference on the Arkansas criminal justice system Wednesday to "seize the scalpel, make the cuts and in the process refurbish our criminal justice system into one which will be an inspiration to our sister states."

The failure to provide the accused with a speedy trial is perhaps the most tragic aspect of the criminal justice system in Arkansas, Bumpers said.

"The lengthy delay that often accrues between arrest and trial in our system is unconscionable," Bumpers said.

The governor noted that Oregon recently passed legislation that says persons who are held in custody because of failure to make bond and who are not tried within 60 days of their arrest are to be released on their own recognizance except when they are charged with murder.

"A swift dispensation of justice brings home the unmistakable point that criminal activity will not be tolerated within our society," Bumpers told conference delegates, who are to recommend improvements in the system to Bumpers and the 1973 General Assembly.

Bumpers also said improvements should be made in the area of rehabilitating criminals.

"Strict punishment and total rejection of the criminal are false solutions which militate against the basic foundation of justice upon which this country was founded," he said. "We cannot expect an incarcerated fellow to return to society ready, willing and able to contribute beneficially when that person has lost his human dignity in the stench and perversion of overcrowded prison life and when he is denied due process rights on a day-to-day basis."

Bumpers said that after a fellow has paid his debt to society, he should not be "forced to bear the burden and stigma of incarceration as if it were some latter day scarlet letter."

Jets hit storage area near Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. jets from three bases in Thailand set fire to more than half of a 70-building military storage complex in a major coordinated raid northwest of Hanoi, the Air Force reported today.

The raid Wednesday was the first of the war against the depot 84 miles northwest of Hanoi, used for temporarily storing war materials en route southward and to support troops based in the immediate region, the Air Force said.

Several flights of F4 Phantom fighter-bombers hit the sprawling complex with laser-guided 2,000 pound bombs and conventional 500-pound fragmentation bombs, the Air Force said.

The raid was among more than 300 tactical air strikes reported by the U.S. Command across North Vietnam Wednesday. It was the third successive day that more than 300 strikes had been launched over the North by U.S. fighter-bombers.

In Saigon, where allied intelligence anticipated an increase in terror attacks in the weeks prior to the U.S. presidential election, a grenade was tossed at a South Korean jeep in the Chinese quarter of the city this morning. The grenade fell into the street, killing one Vietnamese civilian and wounding four others, the Saigon command said. There were no Korean casualties and the terrorist escaped.

Fighting continued at a generally low level with only scattered, small actions across South Vietnam, but analysts said they had no evidence this was tied to any political developments in Paris. Instead, they said, they were more inclined to accept the theory that the North Vietnamese were regrouping and receiving fresh supplies for another round of attacks across South Vietnam.

Associated Press correspondent Dennis Neeld reported that work crews reopened Highway 1 north of Da Nang under fire after it had been cut for two days by culverts blown out by saboteurs.

Communist forces kept up harassing attacks in Quang Ngai province 75 miles south of Da Nang, and there were no signs of major progress by government forces in securing Highway 1 in the region.

Vietnam Press, the official government news agency, said that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops indiscriminately fired into refugees on Highway 1 south of Quang Ngai City.

Allotment to states expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The compromise bill for sharing federal revenues with states and local governments calls for distribution this year of $1,767,800,000 to the states and $3,536,100,000 to the other governmental units, an official tabulation shows.

The Treasury has said that if Congress acts promptly, half this year's allotment can be distributed in October. The bill is expected to pass next week.

Senate OKs Arkansas projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved Wednesday a bill that would provide $5.2 million for acquisition of approximately 70,000 acres in the Cache River basin to replace wetlands that would be destroyed by the Cache River-Bayou DeView channelization project.

As amended, on recommendation of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the bill requires Army Engineers to obtain easements with $4.7 million in engineer funds, and any money left could be used to purchase property adjacent to the river.

An extra $500,000 in matching funds would be provided for easements.

Meanwhile, the House Public Works Committee approved a bill that would authorize the purchase of about 30,000 acres of wildlife mitigation land in the Cache basin.

Also, the Senate approved a federally constructed bridge over Lake Norfork. Arkansas would be required to contribute $1.3 million to construction. That amount was paid in indemnity when a hydroelectric power project caused the original Norfork Bridge to be flooded in 1943.

A similar House bill would require the state to maintain the bridge. The Senate bill would require the engineers to maintain the structure.

The House bill also authorizes construction of impoundment facilities for the Conway municipal water system at federal expense.

Boyleing it down

By MARTIN KRUMING

NEW YORK (AP) — Bus driver Edgar Parker enjoys happy passengers.

That's why he greets them with, "Hi, how are you?" and urges them to "please watch your step. Have a beautiful afternoon and a lovely weekend."

Parker apologizes to elderly ladies with canes for not pulling even with the curb; says goodbye in five languages; points out landmarks in Harlem and midtown Manhattan; waves to merchants and jokes constantly.

Some samples:

"Next stop is the poor house—Rockefeller Plaza."

"Welcome aboard our 747. We have this aircraft disguised as a bus to prevent a hijack. I hope."

The riders love it.

Customers have written him letters, offered candy and free lunches and even tried to kiss him.

"One lady wanted to kiss me goodnight but her husband kept pulling her away," says Parker, a 50-year-old father of three who moved to New York from North Carolina in 1936.

He started driving a city bus four years ago. Before that he ran a liquor store in Harlem.

"Driving a bus in New York is one of the hardest jobs," he says. "Anything you do with the public is hard."

His secret is "neighbor first, God second and me last."

"I love people," says Parker, an ordained minister who spends little time preaching but a lot of hours visiting hospital patients.

"You never see people smile anymore. They're so tense waiting for someone to offer a kind word," he says. "If everybody practices a little love there would be less fear."

Many passengers stop on their way out to thank him for a pleasant ride. A German woman had her friend take her picture alongside him.

How do you spot Parker's bus?

It's marked "4 to Ft. Tyron Park" on an afternoon route, and usually he's heard announcing over his microphone: "All aboard. All aboard. Hi, glad to have you with us today."

Flat car with shipboard containers

Open-top hopper car

Tri-level auto rack car

How do you like our new cars?

We're used to hearing people call our freight cars "box cars." Sure, we still use box cars in great numbers. However, they're anything but the plain old wooden cars that they used to be. Look at these examples of the cars we buy to meet very modern and very specific needs.

That long flat car is carrying shipboard containers up from a Gulf port. The containers recently arrived from Japan.

In the hopper car are nearly 100 tons of Arkansas ore heading to market.

And the huge three-tiered car proves that America's love for the highway didn't put the railroads out of business. It's loaded with new auto models that you'll soon see on the showroom floor.

The Railroads of Arkansas are pulling for you... from Detroit, Bauxite — and even Tokyo.

The Railroads of Arkansas are pulling for you.

WINS AWARD—The Showmanship Award in the Market Lambs division went to William Spradlin, 12, of Shover Springs 4-H Club. Spradlin's lamb placed first in that division and was named Grand Champion. Spradlin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Spradlin of Shover Springs.

Some 4-H Club members learn some do's and don'ts when showing lambs during the market lamb judging at the Third District Livestock Show yesterday.

Electronic surveillance system being studied for possible use in prisons

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An electronic surveillance system being studied by the Arkansas Department of Correction could save the state thousands of dollars if it is installed at the state's prisons.

Ron Kincaid, administrative assistant to Correction Commissioner Terrell Don Hutto, said the system, which would cost about $110,000 to install at Cummins Prison Farm, would more than pay for itself during the first year of operation.

The system would cost less to install at Tucker Intermediate Reformatory, he said.

Kincaid said the system consisted of a cable buried around the perimeter of the prison connected to a central control panel. The cable would trigger an alarm if someone walks near it. According to Kincaid, a prison guard monitoring the device can pinpoint the location of an escape attempt and dispatch personnel to thwart the trouble.

The system could reduce the number of tower guards required at Cummins by about 20, he said.

A reduction of 20 employees would be enough to pay for the system during the first year. The prison guards are paid about $5,000 per year.

Another advantage of the system, according to Kincaid, is that the trusty guard system could be abolished. He also said there would be more flexibility in assigning guard duty.

RESERVE CHAMPION—David Poindexter is the owner of the reserve champion in market lambs division. David is a member of the Shover Springs 4-H Club and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Poindexter.

Climer attacks Bryant's handling of APA petitions

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jerome Climer, Republican candidate for Secretary of State, reiterated his criticism here Wednesday of Secretary of State Kelly Bryant's handling of the American party petition question.

Climer said the handling would lead to Bryant's defeat in November. Bryant is the Democratic nominee. Climer also said he was displeased that the state Supreme Court ruled against the American party being on the November general election ballot. The court ruled that Bryant acted without authority in granting the party a 30-day extension in which to gather signatures to qualify for a ballot position.

Experts believe new monetary system can be shaped

WASHINGTON (AP) — In contrast to their mood a few days ago, the world's top finance officials now are saying that large strides can be taken in shaping a new international monetary system within a year.

As the International Monetary Fund moved today to set up the negotiating forum for monetary reform, finance ministers and central bankers attending the IMF's annual meeting believed the basis for serious talks finally had been laid.

Until the United States came out with specific monetary proposals Tuesday, the mood was gloomy over whether any kind of agreement could be hammered out between now and the next IMF meeting in Nairobi, Kenya, next September.

"I leave this meeting with a little bit more optimism," said Helmut Schmidt, the West German finance minister, adding that he was pleased the United States provided a "coherent platform which we have so long waited for."

Schmidt said several major points had been resolved, including a U.S. pledge to make the dollar convertible again once its balance of payments is in line, and a softening of the American insistence that trade and monetary talks be closely linked.

But a number of differences remain, indicating that hard bargaining lies ahead.

French Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing told the delegates Wednesday that next year's meeting should result in final agreement on how the new money-exchange system would work.

He agreed with U.S. Treasury Secretary George Shultz that the dollar should enjoy the same rights as other currencies of the world. Shultz proposed that the dollar be allowed to swing in value in the exchange markets just as widely as the French franc, the British pound, the German mark, or any other money.

But he differed with the Americans on other major points, including one that may prove the most nettlesome problem of all: what to do about the extra accumulation of dollars overseas while monetary reform is being negotiated.

Giscard d'Estaing said in effect that he leans toward putting some limit on the extra accumulation of dollars, an idea strongly opposed by the United States.

The issue is more than a technical one. One of the big questions in the monetary-reform debate will be how the dollar glut overseas will be reduced. Some economists estimate European and other countries hold an excess of $54 billion they can't cash in for U.S. reserves.

The U.S. reserve position, including gold, is only about one-fifth of that amount and that explains why President Nixon suspended the convertibility of the dollar into gold on Aug. 15, 1971.

The French also disagreed with the U.S. proposal to phase out gold as the standard of value for the dollar and the chief reserve asset. This is a traditional French position, because both the government and its people hold a lot of gold.

Bremer's sentence is reduced by panel

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—A three-judge appeals panel today cut 10 years off Arthur H. Bremer's 63-year prison sentence for the shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons.

The decision came after a 45-minute hearing during which the 22-year-old defendant, speaking in a soft, dispassionate voice, made a personal appeal for a reduction.

"Sixty-three years is more than a life sentence," Bremer told the judges. "It is severe and harsh. I plead for a reduction of the sentence."

The Prince Georges County Circuit Court judges gave no reason for the reduction.

They reduced the sentence of assault with intent to murder Wallace from 15 years to 10 years and took five years off the 15-year term imposed for using a gun in a crime of violence. The other sentences against Bremer were left untouched.

People in the News

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung is reported to have told visiting Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka in Peking that he is suffering from rheumatism.

Correspondents of Asahi Shimbun, reporting from Peking, quoted the Chinese Communist party chairman as saying Wednesday night that his legs are slightly weak because of the affliction.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — World chess champion Bobby Fischer, who said cameras bothered his concentration in the title match he won against Russian Boris Spassky, will appear on Bob Hope's Oct. 5 television special, the National Broadcasting Co. has announced.

Fischer will join Olympic gold medalist Mark Spitz, singers Karen and Richard Carpenter, David Cassidy and "Folies" star Alexis Smith.

He will have a "light part," an NBC spokesman said Wednesday.

The chess champion is scheduled to tape his part Sunday.

Advice is best from professionals

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I hope you can help me regain my peace of mind and perhaps a 20-year friendship of an elderly person. A doctor prescribed glasses for her but she couldn't see through them. Rather than discussing it with her physician, she asked him for an appointment with an eye doctor. The eye doctor put drops in her eyes and ever since then she has "a gold screen" over everything she sees. A nurse told her that doctors never put drops in an elderly person's eyes as the muscles do not react and that the "gold screen" condition would be with her for the rest of her days.

My friend is 82 with poor circulation. I have tried to help her but now she's quite vocal in denouncing me for recommending that she see the eye doctor. I feel very hurt that this has happened to her and she is suddenly very disgruntled and has had almost a complete change in her personality. Any help you can give will be deeply appreciated.

Dear Reader — The biggest problem here is getting advice from people who don't know what they are talking about. The proper place to get medical advice is from a doctor. In the attachment with your letter it is clear that the lady has cataracts and macular degeneration. Cataracts are the gradual change in the clear lens of the eye so that it no longer transmits light properly and thereby obstructs vision. This is a common change in later years.

Degeneration of the macula means degeneration of the small spot right in the center of the back of the eye where the light rays focus to form an image. The back part of the eye really acts like a photographic screen but the most sensitive area for receiving visual images is in this one spot at the back of the eye.

The drops the doctor used had nothing to do with either one of these conditions. The report you attached states he used them to examine her eyes properly. The first doctor, according to the report, knew the lady's problem and only gave her glasses hoping to get the best possible benefit in the face of a difficult situation. The "gold screen" effect is undoubtedly related to the cataracts and the changes in the retinal screen and has nothing to do with the drops the doctor used to dilate her eyes so that he could examine them properly.

There is still another problem you will have to face. With evidence of circulatory changes and at her age, your friend probably has some personality changes related to poor circulation to the brain. When this occurs in older people, there is often a marked change in personality. Wives are greatly distressed when their elderly husbands change from gentle, considerate individuals to crude, thoughtless individuals. Likewise, friendly, outgoing women can change to disgruntled, suspicious personalities. These are manifestations of illness and should be so regarded. I'd like to repeat that the biggest problem here is failure to talk to the doctor and relying on uninformed individuals for an expert opinion. The lady you identified as a nurse used poor judgement if she made the remarks you report. Your friend will continue to need a good eye doctor.

 Opening lead—♣ 2

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a slam contract that looks almost impossible. It turns out to be makeable because West opens the deuce of clubs and South reads the lead as a singleton.

It still looks impossible, but watch what South can do after Analyzing the singleton lead and Reviewing the bidding with the opening three-heart call.

We rise with dummy's ace of clubs; play a trump to our ace and a second back to dummy's queen. Then we discard two clubs on the ace and king of hearts and ruff dummy's last heart.

We are back in our hand to cash our ace and king of diamonds and discard one of dummy's clubs.

Now we lead our deuce of diamonds. West has to play a higher diamond and we discard another club from dummy.

This isn't a sure-thing play because East might have another diamond left. In that case he would win and cash a club, but it turns out that East started with one spade, seven hearts, two diamonds and three clubs.

West is on lead and has to play another diamond. We discard dummy's last club; ruff in our hand and there are the rest of the tricks.
